

“Contagious – Why Things Catch On” – Jonah Berger – Social influence and especially word-of-mouth transmission is more persuasive than other online marketing since people have more trust when something is recommended by a friend. Also word-of-mouth is more targeted because people only share the information about a product or service with someone whom they believe would be interested.